Exam Accommodations, Policies, and Procedures

Exam accommodations are adjustments to the standard exam procedure, environment, and/or format. Students approved for exam accommodations are to complete exams with accommodations that minimize the impact of their disabilities without lowering course standards or altering expectations. Students who request exam accommodations typically have disabilities that interfere with processing information, recalling information, writing legibly, reading printed text, or focusing and concentrating.

The OWU Testing Center provides a proctored distraction reduced location for all students registered with Accessibility Services.

What should students and professors know about arranging exam proctoring with the OWU Testing Center?

The OWU Testing Center works with students and professors to ensure exam proctoring requests are completed as soon as possible. The OWU Testing Center can proctor exams for any student at OWU. The student or professor can contact the Testing Center to begin the exam scheduling process. Students can schedule an exams, but the date and time will need to be approved by the professor before the exam schedule will be finalized. General standard exams requests can be schedule through the online Exam Proctor Request form.

How are Testing Accommodations Requested?

Student requests an ASO Registration Confirmation Letter. Please allow 1-3 business days for the request to be processed.

Students email confirmation letter to professors of all classes that will require use of accommodations. Letters should be sent via email to professors within the first 3 weeks of the semester (prior to the first exam).

How are Exams Scheduled in OWU Testing Center?

- Student pick up Exam proctor forms from either the OWU Testing center in University Hall 114 or the ASO in Corns 316.

- Students will take the completed form to the professor for signature confirmation and return the completed for to the OSU Testing Center. The professor and student also get a carbon copy of the completed form.

Although our first option is always scheduling the exam at the same time as the class, this may not always be possible. Due to the student's disability, accommodation needs, class schedule, class exam date/time and Testing Center hours an alternative day and/or time may be requested. The professor can allow the difference or provide the accommodation within the department office.

Typically 2-3 days before each test the Exam Proctor will email the professor to request the exam and any important information. The exam can be sent via email or hard copy. Please provide a requested exams in as much advance as possible (preferably 2-3 business days). Some disability and accommodations require an exam to be saved in a different format. Submitting exams in Word Documents will reduce the need to manipulate the exam.

What are Options for Returning the Exam?

- Professor pick-up- Professor will receive an email once the student has completed the exam and can stop in anytime during business hours to pick up the exam.

Final Exams

The Testing Center follows the University final exam block scheduling system with start times of 8:30am and 1:30pm. A 6:00pm start time has been implemented for students and professors who need the 7:30pm exam start time. This is only an option if the exam cannot be taken on a different day and/or time.

Due to some disabilities, some students may not be able to take multiple final exams on the same day. In this instance, the Testing Center will work with the student and professor in advance to determine the best option.

Students are not guaranteed accommodations if they make exam proctor requests the business day before or the business day of the desired exam proctor time. The Testing Center will determine the ability to accommodate the last minute request and provide alternative options as needed.

There is no guarantee professors will allow a make-up exam. The OWU Testing Center will email the student, copying the professor of record, to notify the student of their lateness, requesting the student arrive or have the appointment cancelled. If the student does not arrive within 30 minutes of the scheduled appointment, it will be cancelled and the student is responsible for collaborating with their course professor in order to re-schedule either with the professor or within the OWU Testing Center.

- Canceling Exams: Students should contact the OWU Testing Center as soon as possible if they have decided not to complete exams that were scheduled in the OWU Testing Center.

What should students and professors know about specific kinds of exam accommodations?

Students typically need one or more of the following types of testing accommodations: extended time, distraction-reduced space, computers/assistive technology; alternative exam or exam answer formats. Extended time and distraction-reduced space are the most common requests for exam accommodations.

Extended testing time. Unless the exam or other class activity is assessing for speed or efficiency, students approved for this accommodation may require additional time for completing exams, quizzes, in-class writing assignments, lab exams, or other in-class activities. This accommodation ensures that students are graded on their knowledge or mastery of the subject matter, not on the speed of their performance. Extended time does not mean unlimited time; students who require extended time are typically approved for time and one half (50% extra time) or double time (100% extra time). For example, a student with time and one half would have 75 minutes to complete an exam designed for a 50-minute class.

Distraction-reduced space. Students approved for this accommodation should take exams in environments (e.g., seminar rooms, unused classrooms, professors' offices, or the OWU Testing Center) with minimal auditory, visual, and other sensory distractions. (i.e. talking, sniffing, food wrappers, typing, halogen lighting, music, etc.).

Note: Students should not expect a "distraction-free" exam environment. Private settings for exams require the approval of the Coordinator of the Accessibility Services Office in advance, and may require discussion between professor, student, and the Coordinator of the Accessibility Services Office.

Assistive technology and computer use. The OWU Testing Center has desktop and laptop computers (without Internet access) with text-to-speech and/or speech-to-text software, and word-processing (MS Word) accommodations.

Exams formatted for audio output or speech input. The Coordinator of the Accessibility Services Office and the OWU Testing Center are responsible for approving and converting exams into these formats based on individual student access needs.

Alternate format exam answer document. Some students require the use of a computer or tablet to record exam answers rather than physically writing answers or completing a Scantron sheet. The OWU Testing Center is equipped to scribe when this accommodation has been approved by the Coordinator of the Accessibility Services Office.
